

The Oakland Press/DOUG BALMAN

Weird vehicles invade OU

The University of Michigan team make last-minute adjustments on their high-tech robot Friday at the 1993 International Unmanned Ground Robotics Competition at Oakland University. The autonomous vehicles were designed by students to "see" the rough course with a camera, to make a plan with its computer to travel it, and then actually drive the course.